

*Note:

1. The valsrt result in screenshot shows different records number with input file, but very close. It is caused by different chunked size, the sorted number of records will be slightly different. The chunked size difference might lead to some different number of blank tabs, which causes sorted records difference. But there is no data missing. So the sorted results are still fine.
2. My name is shown on the top right corner of screenshot. "qianqian198987" is my username is Amazon EC2.